

Revolutionary Tributes to Comrade Ranjit Singh, Central Committee Member, CPI (ML)

Comrade Ranjit Singh passed away in Jaipur on 24-1-2023 at the age of 82 years. As per his written declaration, his mortal remains will be handed over to SMS Hospital, Jaipur today (25-1-2023).

Comrade Ranjit Singh entered communist politics in Rajasthan from his student days. He was moved by the many struggles in the country and in the world and adopted Marxism-Leninism as his world outlook. As a communist he worked to alleviate the many issues of the people and the society as a whole. He took the side of communist revolutionaries when differences arose in the communist movement. Even during the days of emergency, he took up organizing efforts as a member of the North Zone Committee and was in direct contact with Comrade Tarimela Nagireddy. He continued to work for the movement throughout his life, except for the short period before his death when he suffered hearing loss and amnesia. He is a central committee member and Rajasthan state secretary of CPI (ML) which took its present form as a result of various unification processes.

He has been running the Hindi magazine 'Bhagat Singh Ka Sapne' for many years. He led many movements centred around the district of Jhunjhunu, Rajasthan. He has written many books and made many translations. For the past ten years, he has made major contributions to Tarimela Nagireddy Memorial Trust Hindi publications to bring essential literature to North India. Comrade Ranjit worked tirelessly to translate into Hindi the books, 'India Mortgaged', and the huge 'Historical and Polemical documents of the Communist Movement in India' published by the Trust in two volumes. Even when his spouse was in bed with cancer, he sat next to her and did translations for months. No communist worker can ever forget his committed efforts for a better tomorrow for the working class.

Comrade Ranjit Singh stood for the people and values with communist commitment and worked until his brain physically cooperated. The Central Committee of CPI (ML) pay revolutionary tributes to the comrade and extend its deep condolences to his family members, friends and party comrades in Rajasthan.
