

Workers and Toilers! Conduct May Day with Highest Consciousness and Wakefulness : the Caution of 'May Day' of Present Times

May Day is not Merely a Day of Festivity! It is a Day of Fight and Struggle!! It is a Day on which Toilers Shed their Blood!!!

The big-bourgeoisie and landlord classes are wielding power in India, from villages level to Centre level of the country. Big-bourgeoisie and landlord forces are acting as the compradors and supporters for the continuance of the plunder and the exploitation of the imperialists in India. These forces joined their hands with the imperialist corporate forces for the destruction of the lives of the people of rural India. Youth of the landless families of peasantry of rural India are forced to migrate to far-off places selling their labour power to eke out livelihood. They are migrating to far-off places through the labour supplying agents and brokers and are suffering untold misery and enduring worst living and working conditions.

Small farmers are producing their farm produce and crops in their small and petty land-holdings. They are in a forced situation to cultivate their lands basing on the supply of seeds and fertilizers and money by the local brokers and usurers. They do not have markets to sell their crops.

On the other hand many industries are under the ownership of monopoly capitalists. The Central government and the governments in the states are giving guarantees to these monopoly – capitalist forces, that they would provide required land and water to them to establish new industries or to expand the existing industries, easily without any problem. They are also guaranteeing the monopoly – capitalist forces that they would control the workers even if they organise and form a union and enslave the workers to the interests of the big-capitalists and industrialists. The governments have even decided to hand over the public sector units and industries under governmental management to the big-capitalist like Adanis and Ambanis. Selling these PSU and industries built with the labour power of workers and the lands of rural people off their ownership, to big-capitalists and industrial is nothing but tantamount to traitorous treachery.

Added to this in order to facilitate to plunder and exploit the underground resources and wealth by the monopoly capitalist forces, the forests and mountains, that have been protecting our environment are permitted to be destroyed. The tribals living in these hills and forests from ages are being forcibly evicted and displaced from their natural and traditional habitats without proper rehabilitation and without providing them with any reasonable means of livelihood, without any compunction. On the other hand the pollutants released by the industries are playing havoc with the health and the lives of the people. River waters and sea waters are highly and excessively polluted with toxic industrial pollutants without remedy.

The imperialists are moulding our traditional Indian system to the advantage of their exploitation and plunder. The bourgeoisie and landlord classes of our country are serving to the interests of imperialists and furthering them with much zeal. They are acting as regressive forces for the social development of people of India. They are immersing the people in the vicious whirlpool of caste, religion, language and regional differences, of hatred and intolerance.

These classes have been systematically making constant efforts injecting reactionary ideas and theories among people, against the most progressive ideology in the world – the ideology of communism and its achievements throughout the world. These classes have temporarily gained upper hand in thwarting the spread of communist ideology and erase it, which has been an effective instrument for the emancipation of workers and toiling people. This has become a bane and a great enemy to the workers and toiling people. Those who have been adopting communist ideology claiming socialism and reformism have stopped there itself. They fell-back in raising awareness and developing class consciousness among workers and toiling people against the exploiting classes – the big-bourgeoisie and landlord force. Some of them went even to the extent of bringing divisionist and side-tracking ideologies and ideas to the fore. They organised unions and associations based on caste and religion among the toiling people. Distancing themselves from the communists, they gave bankrupt definitions to awareness and consciousness of the toiling people and the oppressed. Without giving any scope they avoided for a discussion whether socialism or capitalism to be followed and adopted, they are pushing the toiling people to fall prey to the capitalist ideology and its ideas. These ideologies have befriended with economism and reformism are disrupting and destroying the unity among organised force of toiling people and scattering it.

The imperialist and capitalist forces throughout the world are in a permanent crises. They are reeling under continuous crises and are without any respite as a result of their avaricious and anarchic system leading to stagflation. Their economies are in turmoil and disorder. To overcome these crises they are adopting the tactics of oppression and relief (carrot and stick) policy with workers and the toiling people. They are using unrestrained violence against the forces of workers and toilers, in their respective countries. They are throwing the burden of their crises onto the shoulders of workers and toiling people. They are fighting for markets and battling for territories and shifting the burden of these wars also onto the shoulders of toiling people of the world. The imperialist forces have globalised exploitation and plunder. The comprador bourgeoisie and feudal forces of different and various countries are helping the imperialist exploitation and plunder.

Today the conflict and dispute is continuing between the imperialist forces and the oppressed people of the world.

Hence the oppressed people and the toilers of the world selling their labour-power, have to form into an united force basing on the slogans of democracy, socialism and world peace. The toiling people of our country have to organise and form into a strong and mighty fighting force for democracy and socialism. They have to remove imperialist, big-bourgeoisie and landlord classes from the power by overthrowing them.

May Day is not mere a day of festivity. It is a day of fight and struggle. It is a day of bloodshed of toilers. The exploiting class announced May Day as a holiday asking to celebrate it as a festival. On this day they even give-away charities, treating it as a festival. They have changed May-Day, as a day of cordiality between the exploiting and the exploited, pacifying the class-anger of workers and toiling people against exploitation and oppression, thus placating with the workers. At the very same time – they exploiting classes are stubbornly refusing to recognise the legally established eight-hour working day by legal enactments – achieved by the workers through their untold scarifies and prolonged struggles. They are deliberately renegeing of their own commitments and enactments.

That is why; May Day coutions the toilers and workers of the entire-world to conduct themselves with highest class consciousness and utmost wakefulness in the existing world situation of imperialist hegemony and exploitation over the world!

This is the inspiration the workers and toilers throughout the world shall draw from the May Day!

Long Live May Day!

Workers of all Countries Unite and Fight against Imperialism to its End!!
